 - Less material waste and low environmental impact
- more design flexibility, less cost

Our modern process means less harmful styrene emissions and less wastage

Victorian Door and Window surround styling

Why you'd never know our window and door surrounds are GRP

Male and female moulds are gently separated to reveal the phenomenal GRP detail of stone, the soft grain of timber and the Earth's full spectrum of natural materials. All of our products are manufactured within the scope of our ISO9001 Quality Management System Certification.

Inspired by the latest technology

Investment into development, technology and people enable us to create the dynamic detailing found on the surface of natural materials. This level of detail simply can't be achieved through the traditional methods used by our competitors.
