REIMAGINED, REDESIGNED. REDISCOVERING RAWSON

For 150 years, this privately-owned company has grown organically through the manufacture and cutting-edge uses of non-woven industrial textiles.

Our growth remains strong because of W E Rawson's ongoing commitment to innovation, designed to meet the world's ever-changing and varied market needs. Managed by the founder's descendants even today, this proud family-owned business has succeeded and expanded through World Wars and economic change. What's the secret to this global organisation's resilience and continued growth among diverse, geographic markets?

It's quite simple, really. It's the tradition of innovation.

At Rawson Carpet Solutions division we pride ourselves on the heritage of our brand.

The experience and reputation has enabled us to evolve with the interiors market, and with our latest products we are proud to offer a broader and more exciting range that is at the forefront of design and performance.

Still our excitement for the future continues with the ongoing redesigning of our heritage ranges to promote more ecological and recyclable solutions to the textile flooring market.
